

GREAT FEATURE AT OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY NIGHT

Clara Kimball Young Plays Hard Dual Role in "The Worldly Madonna" To Be Seen Here This Evening.

John McIlrile, one of the best-known men in big city politics and called the "big boss" by men who are behind the throne of the big six, was accused of murder by Allan Graves, proprietor of the notorious Cubist cabaret yesterday.

Police officials who attempted to lay hands on McIlrile yesterday were unable to locate him. His offices were deserted and only a watchman was found on the premises who stated that Mr. McIlrile had gone out of town.

The facts of the case as gleaned by reporters were that McIlrile and Graves became engaged in a heated argument involving the name of a woman supposed to be Lucy Trevor the popular cabaret entertainer at the Cubist.

Whether or not this was true could not be ascertained, but the earlier facts in the case point strongly to this as the cause of the tragedy. It seems as though a walter in the Cubist in the employ of Graves has for some time been openly selling dope and drugs to addicts. Although never caught in fact, his air of cautionlessness made him the center of suspicion by the local authorities. It has been noised about for several weeks past that both McIlrile and Graves were in love with the Trevor woman, and that the men had become engaged in altercations shortly before the death of the walter.

Attempts to learn the whereabouts of McIlrile failed yesterday. These are a few of the facts of which you will learn more when you see Clara Kimball Young in her latest and greatest photoplay, "The Worldly Madonna," which will be shown at the Washington Theater tonight.

UNABLE TO SOLVE MURDER MYSTERY

Iron Bar and Empty Pocketbook Were Found Beside Body of Murdered Man.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 18.—Hancock county authorities today were endeavoring to unravel the tangled skein of a murder mystery.

An iron bar and an open, empty pocketbook beside the body of a young, well dressed man found Tuesday near Daniel Boone were evidences of the tragedy. Examination of the dead man showed a fracture at the base of the skull three inches in length. Who he was will be difficult to determine, inasmuch as no documents were found in his pockets and no marks on his clothing.

The corpse was found by Wili Jones, negro, about 150 yards from the right-of-way of the Illinois Central railroad. Jones notified the authorities, who in turn summoned Coronor Ernest Watts. A jury was empaneled and a verdict rendered Tuesday night that the man was slain and that robbery was the motive. Apparently he had been dead about four weeks. The body was brought in for interment.

Shortly after the verdict was rendered, John Butler, 20 years old, a resident of the vicinity who had attended the inquest, accidentally shot and killed himself. Butler had been hunting. He started away from the scene of the inquest, dragging a loaded shotgun. He had gone but a short distance when the hammer struck an obstruction and the charge was exploded. He was shot through the stomach and died immediately.

ALLEGED WHISKY RUNNERS CAPTURED WITH THE BOOZE

Eight Men, Quantity of Liquor and Two Automobiles Are Taken By Dry Officers.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 19.—Eight men, 455 gallons of whisky, four automobiles, a speed truck and a small arsenal of firearms were captured early this morning by federal prohibition agents from Lexington and Louisville at the Perryville bridge in Boyle county, following a gun fight in which forty or fifty shots were fired. Nobody was injured on either side.

The eight men were brought to Lexington and lodged in jail. They were to be arraigned before United States Commissioner Charles N. Ward this afternoon on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act and of transporting whisky.

The car of 410 gallons of high proof red whisky was taken to Frankfort for storage. The remainder of the catch, forty-five gallons of moonshine, was poured out where it was captured.

The men arrested gave the names of E. A. Brady, 1701 Holman street, Covington; L. Howard, Covington; R. Morton, Covington; J. T. Williams, Paris; Howard Hayden, Paris; Edgar Crawford, Paris; Pete Linville, Paris; Johnny Myers, Lexington.

The officers were unable to determine where the liquor was stolen.

The whisky was brought to this city and stored in the basement of the post office.

Records of the automobile department at Frankfort show that the license on the seven-passenger car captured was issued to E. A. Brady, 1701 Holman street, Covington. The records here did not show to whom the truck license was issued. The truck was practically new and contained Kenton county license No. 20027.

The catch was made in four installments and included three separate sets of whisky runners, according to Prohibition Agent B. F. Unthank, of the Lexington office, who was a member of the raiding party.

The three men from Lexington, it is claimed, belonged to the "red liquor party" and four others, alleged by the officers to be members of the same gang, escaped. The four men from Paris were captured in a small touring car, which contained 15 gallons of moonshine.

The man giving his name as Johnny Myers, of Lexington, was in a roadster, alone, except for 30 gallons of moonshine whisky, the officers said.

Prohibition agents here say they believe the red whisky seized this morning is part of the loot from the Rugby distillery in Louisville which was robbery of $50,000 worth of whisky Monday night. They declined to give details concerning the information upon which they base this belief, but declared that the "whole scheme" will be bared in court.

John H. Leathers of Louisville was re-elected Grand Treasurer for the forty-third time. Following the usual custom, other officers were elevated to higher posts. E. E. Nelson, of Williamsburg, became Grand Master; A. E. Orton, of Dawson Springs, Deputy Grand Master, and H. M. Gruny of Springfield, Grand Senior Warden.

Mr. Holland, who was elected on the second ballot, defeated H. V. Bastin of Lancaster; G. P. Glenn, of Ashland; Tom C. Pettitt, of Bardwell; G. M. Bannon, of Glasgow; John H. Howe, of Carrollton and Charles A. Rankin, of Newport.

A proposal to amend the Grand Lodge's constitution to increase dues in all lodges from $20 to $30 was defeated.

MURDER CASE TAKES ANOTHER TURN.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 19.—Detectives began today to investigate the newly developed report that the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. Eleanore Reinhardt Mills, choir singer, were murdered in a shed at Weston Mills, a settlement several miles from New Brunswick and about four miles from the Phillips farm, where their bodies were found on September 16.

EIGHT YEARS IS PENALTY FLEMING MAN MUST PAY

Jury in Fleming Circuit Court Finds William Helphinstine Guilty of Slaying Clarence Gardner and Sentences Him to Pen.

A jury in the Fleming Circuit Court into Wednesday found William Helphinstine, prominent Fleming county merchant, guilty of slaying of Clarence Gardner, well known farmer of the Hillsboro neighborhood, and fixed his punishment at confinement in the state penitentiary at Frankfort, for a period of eight years.

It developed in the evidence of the case that Helphinstine had Gardner in sudden heat and passion during an argument over the settlement of an account at the Helphinstine store and more directly over the punishment of Gardner's son by the father in the store. The lad had purchased fifty five cents worth of tobacco at the store which he had ordered charged to his father. In the settlement Gardner disputed the fifty-five cents and when told it was for tobacco for his son, the father punished the child and the merchant remonstrated with him for his severe punishment of the lad which started the argument which ended fatally.

Both Helphinstine and Gardner were men of splendid reputations and were good citizens. The affair was most lamentable.

LLOYD GEORGE MAY BE FORCED TO RESIGN

Unionists Vote 186 to 87 Against Coalition Which May Mean Premier's Fall.

London, Oct. 19.—The Unionist caucus, meeting today, voted 186 to 87 in favor of appealing to the country at a general election as a united conservative party.

The vote carried with it the party's announced intention of having a conservative premier if successful at the polls.

This amounts to repudiation of the coalition and of Premier David Lloyd George unless the prime minister resigns himself as a conservative.

At present, although head of the coalition government, Lloyd George is considered a liberal.

The Unionist vote means Lloyd George probably will resign.

Today's meeting was brought about as the result of the political crisis caused by the Lloyd George policies both at home and in the near east.

MAYSVILLE MEN FINED IN FEDERAL COURT.

Mrs. Angelita Pool, wife of Earl Pool, Latonia jockey, committed suicide at a Cincinnati boarding house Thursday morning by drinking poison.

PRESBYTERIANS EXPECT TO REACH $16,000 MARK TODAY

Over Ten Thousand Dollars Reported Subscribed Last Night in Educational Drive—Hope To Reach Goal By Tonight.

Local Presbyterians hope to be enabled to hear at the mid-week prayer service Thursday evening that the local church's entire quota of sixteen thousand dollars in the million dollar educational campaign has been subscribed.

The special executive committee and workers have been very busy since the acceptance by the church of the sixteen thousand dollar quota and they have met with decided success. At a meeting of the committee held Wednesday evening it was reported that a total of $10,550.00 had been subscribed and the last $5,500 was expected to be subscribed during Thursday so that victory could be reported at the prayer service.

Members of the local Presbyterian church have been loyal in this campaign for Christian education and their contributions have been very liberal.

DEBT DRIVE STARTS

The American Bankers' Convention has been turned into a gigantic attempt to convince the warders of America's ready cash that the allied debts must be forgotten or reduced. That is the convention keynote.

The 11,000 visitors, big and little town and village bankers, are being given a "new outlook" on these debts. They are expected to go "back home" and mold sentiment, reduction sentiment, cancellation sentiment.

Thomas W. Lamont, of the House of Morgan, and President Thomas B. McAdams, of the Bankers' Association, were the "leading-off" men for the "new outlook." These were no "doubting Thomases," these two keynoters. They asked that America "write off" a great part of the $11,000,000,000 in loans and extend the remainder for a generation. Backing them up was the Right Honorable Reginald McKenna, ex-vice chancellor of the British empire and head of Britain's largest bank, the London Joint City and Midland. He told us we must wait for our money and that some of it would be lost.

Here, then, is the start of the real campaign to convince America that it is not only "moral" but expedient for us to forget about these loans. A careful "build-up" has been going on all summer. Every returning ship carried an international banker or financial heavyweight, urging that we forget and forgive. Propaganda has spouted from New York and risen from London as from a fountain.

There is a resolution in Congress asking an international economic adjustment. The National Council for the Reduction of Armaments is out with a plea to cut German reparations from thirty-three billions to as little as four billions and to adjust all international debts "in the light of all the facts."

The armament for the big drive is about ready. Bankers are being handed their arguments for reduction and cancellation. The Vanderbilts and Warburgs have spoken their pieces, and most of the international banking group believe the time has come to wait upon Congress. The cancellation-reduction fur is about to fly.

Pressure, steady, powerful and relentless, is about to be applied. America, however, will need a lot of convincing. Americans know that while this $11,000,000,000 may be worth no more than fifty cents on the dollar, we are going along paying interest on every cent of it and that we Americans must pay back every dollar of it.

It is not forgotten that the Government got it from Liberty Bond buyers, who bought "till it hurt," and that the principal and interest on these bonds must be paid to the final red cent. If we are to forgive our creditors, in whole or in part, then for the second time we must raise that money in taxes and duties, and all the panjandrum, high-talls and financial gestures between now and Kingdom Come will not release us.

The bankers may be convinced, but America is not convinced. Not yet. There is a frank distrust of those bankers who reaped fat profits and took juicy commissions on war loans and war purchases made by foreign nations and who are now so avidly anxious that we scale down our claims, go on carrying the load and watch our new loans made to this same "busted" crowd.

The long-headed, practical common sense of the America that is far from Wall Streets and Lombard Streets of the world must be reached and converted. That is to be the job of the banker. It will not be easy.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

DESPITE CRUSADES

Despite police crusades, from time to time proclaimed and for a time in each instance prosecuted, automobile "accidents" in Louisville continue at the usual rate.

Eternal vigilance, and not occasional crusades, may be depended upon to reduce the scope of the evil of reckless driving, out of which grow a large majority of automobile killings. But until juries can be gotten to consider soberly the fundamental cause of such tragedies, and persuaded to deal accordingly with those who are guilty of causing death by violence, the killings will continue despite periodic crusades or constant vigilance.

Selfishness, cock-sureness, deliberate disregard of the rights of others eliminated, the problem of the safety of streets and country roads would be solved.

Careful drivers rarely cause accidents. But the most careful driver, like the pedestrian, may be killed at any street corner or on any country road by the driver who disregards speed regulations because he is confident that he can avoid accidents, and who always is willing to swear in court that he was proceeding slowly and cautiously at the time his machine struck another machine amidships and pitched it over a fence, or took a pedestrian unawares and dragged him half a block.

Crusades are not making the streets safe. To a good job, every day, by the police as seekers for violators of the law, a good job every time by jurors when persons who have caused death are tried must be added before it will be greatly less dangerous to use public thoroughfares than it is to be a soldier during a war.—Courier-Journal.

MEX. TAXES

American oil companies operating in Mexico are still at loggerheads with the Mexican federal and state governments. The Mexican appetite for taxes seem to offer little obstacle to their increase. Apparently the recognition of Mexico by this government will not be an event of the near future.

KINDLY NOTE

The Democratic state convention of Michigan officially commended Mr. Ford for his stand on the coal controversy. In other words they approved Ford's action in throwing 100,000 men out of work in order that his personal income of $500,000 a day might not be lessened.

At current rates of exchange it seems hardly worth the effort to work your head off in order to make your mark in the world.

DOCTOR ORDERED WOMAN OBEYED
Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the market," says a recent letter. "After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous that it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. There are certain things in it in this world."—Mrs. A. P. Tomshock, 10637 South Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomshock to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomshock's experience should give you courage.

UNCLE TED'S
BED-TIME STORIES.

"What does teacher mean by that?" asked Jack as he was discussing the day's current history lesson with Ruth.

"What was that?" asked Uncle Ted as he came into the room.

"I was asking Ruth if she knew what was meant by the 'Unsinkable Turk.' Teacher was telling us something about the trouble in the Near East in our current history class today."

"That term," began Uncle Ted, "came about because of the methods used by the Turk in all the history of his fighting. He has always been known, whether right or wrong, as a bloodthirsty individual who knows no law and resorts to the meanest known tactics when he fights. The world is once again free to face with him and this time the situation is even more serious because of the tremendous change due to the Great War. I want to try and make one point in my story to you tonight but to do that I must give you a background of history so that you can see what I am trying to point out."

"For more than 800 years the Turks and the Russians have been fighting each other. Turkish history is crowded with war and the story is not a pleasant one. When the Great War ended, nearly the whole world was changed. Constantinople, the once proud capital of Turkey, was left under Allied control, Jerusalem fell into the hands of the British. So long as Turkey was surrounded by stronger nations she necessarily was forced to supply ships in Turkish waters to pro-

keep quiet and the danger of a 'Holy War' was small. But today Germany cannot be counted on. She fought side by side with the Turks during the Great War and even if she wished to fight against her she is unable to render any assistance. Austria-Hungary the strong wall against the Turks on one side is split into many small countries as a result of the war and her strength is so distributed that it amounts to nothing. Russia, although with a big army, in fact the largest in the world today, is in no position to act as a wall on the other side of Turkey. We might even see her joining hands with her old enemy if it could be for her own gain. She has no love for the rest of the world, now having fallen into the hands of those who have turned her whole system of government upside down.

"A young, well-educated man is heading this new drive of the Turks. His name is Mustapha Kemal and during the Great War he was only a Captain in the Turkish army under the orders of a German general. He led the line against the British at Gallipoli and when the battle was over came out a general himself. Just as the Turks recaptured Constantinople in 1453 they are still hoping to do it today, and with Kemal as their leader they are not only hopeful but confident of making their objective. No matter what the result, today the entire Near East is a boiling caldron of trouble. We as Americans cannot remain entirely indifferent to the situation."

"But what should we do?" asked Jack.

"First of all, Jack, we must protect American citizens. Today the United States has a flotilla of destroyers and transports which are necessarily forced to supply ships in Turkish waters to pro-TECT Americans and American interests. This is as it should be. Our first duty is to protect our own people and our own interests and at the same time to make our national resources secure that if it ever again becomes necessary to go to war we shall be ready. We must never again waste human life and millions of dollars through being too blind to see what is coming. That was the trouble with the Wilson administration. We were 'too proud to fight' and because Mr. Wilson said so he let us go to war unprepared. I went to war, kids, and I don't like it. It is horrible and I pray that we shall never again have to face it but we must be prepared to the extent of having that equipment necessary to avoid the loss of life due to unpreparedness. The followers of the world club plan are busy today spreading their stories that if we had joined there would be no trouble in the Near East today. That argument is foolish but there are those who will listen and believe. If we had become members of the world club and had taken a mandate, or protectorate over Armenia, we would now be supplying the young men and the money to fight the Turks. We know, as does every earnest man at Washington from President Harding down, that our safety, and our ability to aid the remainder of the world depends upon our continuing the splendid international policy so well started at the beginning of the Harding administration. We can see no reason why we should shed the blood of America in the Near East to settle European quarrels but we can see a reason to protect Americans and their interests. This is being done in a dignified and proper way."

"Our foreign policy is right and history will show that it is. The administration is going slowly in reduction of our armies and navy. Just because we want to see an eventual end of war is no reason why we should commit suicide. We have proved through the only sensible conference held, the one at Washington last year, that we want to go into a sane understanding which will help along the road to peace. But the world is not ready for it yet. We only wish that were the case."

BEST METHOD FOR CURING MEAT WILL BE EXPLAINED

Lexington, Ky. — Best methods for the home curing of meats will be explained to farmers in many Kentucky counties during the coming winter by means of meetings and demonstrations to be held by the extension division or the College of Agriculture, according to an announcement by Grady Sellards, swine specialist of the college, who will have charge of the work. The meetings, which already have been started and which will continue until the first of February next year, will be confined to the eastern and western parts of the state. Curing by use of salt and sorghum molasses, which is one of the oldest and most successful methods known, will be advocated through the meetings. At the present time, almost two-thirds of the farmers in the state cure their meat by the use of salt alone.

The method which will be advocated already has been tested out and found successful by a number of farmers. Twenty farmers in Lawrence, Boyd and Floyd counties last year cured their meat by the sorghum molasses method while more than 40 farmers in Marshall county found the same method highly successful when they tried it out last year.

Some of the points which Mr. Sellards will stress in the meetings are: 1—Be sure that the carcass is thoroughly cooled out as natural heat promotes rapid spoiling. 2—Trim hams, shoulders and bacon neatly. Bat edges do not make a good cured product. They should be rendered into lard and made into sausage. 3—Put a heavy layer of salt on each layer of meat, or bury the meat in salt, as it is being packed into a large churn or oak barrel. 4—Two days for each pound are required for a single piece to cure. That is, a 10-pound ham should cure 20 days. A curing dry is any one in which the temperature is above freezing. 5—After the meat is removed from the salt, brush off the crusty layer, wash in luke warm water, hang up and let drip for 12 hours.

6—Smoke with hard wood, hickory preferred, for about six days or until the meat is an amber color. 7—Apply warm sorghum molasses to meat until all pores are filled. 8—Let hang several days before making second application of molasses. 9—Wrap with heavy paper, then with muslin cloth. Make insect proof. 10—Hang in dark, dry place with hock joints of hams down.

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE

Maysville Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches.

Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all backaches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well recommended by Maysville people. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. R. L. Mattingly, 207, West Second street, Maysville, says: "I was in bad condition with my back and kidneys. I couldn't get my proper rest at night owing to the dull misery in my back. I was feeling so miserable I often had to let my housework go undone. I was dizzy by spells and suffered from rheumatic pains. I was so bad I couldn't walk without pushing a chair in front of me and my lower limbs were painful. My kidneys were in bad condition owing to their irregular action. Another of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills successfully and that led me to sit to Wood & Son's drug store for a couple of boxes. After using them I was all right, I have felt well since using Doan's and recommend them willingly."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply go for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mattingly had. Foster-Millburn Co., Maysville, Ky.

FOX PRODUCTION BREAK RECORDS IN THE ANTIPODES.

The advent of the big Fox special, such as "Over the Hill," "Connecticut Yankee" and the "Queen of Sheba," is causing a change in the methods of the exhibitors in Australia and New Zealand, according to reports received at the Fox offices in New York city.

Until the advent of these big productions the picture houses had been showing about 16,000 feet of film at each performance, using two features, and the exhibitor was contracting for an theater profited to a greater extent, just as they do here when a picture like "Over the Hill" plays an entire year on Broadway.

The Australian exhibitors have been shown, and have taken advantage of the American methods of exploitation. They play up in bold type, the fact that "Over the Hill" ran a year on Broadway and the ad states that this is "The Picture That Thrilled America."

SECOND CONVICTION IS PEN SENTENCE, SAYS COURT

Court of Appeals Holds That Second Conviction Under Dry Law Carries With Term in State Penitentiary.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 17.—On a second conviction for unlawful possession of whisky the punishment is confinement in the penitentiary and not a jail sentence, fine and bond.

This opinion was handed down today by Chief Justice Hurt of the Court of Appeals in dismissing the petition of the City of Bowling Green for a writ of prohibition to restrain County Judge Charles Drake from issuing a writ of habeas corpus to Les Turner, who on the second conviction of unlawful possession of whisky was fined $300, given a jail sentence of sixty days and placed under a $5,000 peace bond.

In view of the fact that the law provides a penitentiary sentence for the second conviction of unlawfully having in possession intoxicating liquors the Court of Appeals held that the police court did not have the power to require bond of Turner on the second conviction and that order being void, Turner's confinement in jail under it was not authorized. Therefore, the court said, the County Judge, had jurisdiction to grant a writ of habeas corpus to discharge him.
